

My comments are in favor of maintaining Indiana's Telephone Privacy law intact as it is now imposed upon telemarketers and other persons.

The law has been an absolutely tremendous improvement of what had degraded into an unbearable nuisance and an infringement on our privacy. Calls were coming in at such a rate that they had become maddening! Our patience finally degraded to rudeness, hangups, and occassionaly ... just setting the phone down with the person on the other end just talking to themselves! Serves them right!!!

Please, please DO NOT push any measures that would reduce the effectiveness of the Indiana law. It's working. It is our right as citizens not to accept the infringement that the marketers had taken things to .... and now that it's fixed ... don't break it!
